

Opening of the Japan-India Institute for Manufacturing, Ahresty JIM, in Haryana, India — Participation in the Manufacturing Skill Transfer Promotion Programme Signed by the Japanese and Indian Governments —

On July 6, Ahresty Corporation opened the Japan-India Institute for Manufacturing (JIM), Ahresty JIM, within its local affiliated company, Ahresty India Private Limited (Bawal, Haryana).

In order to train human resources to develop the manufacturing industry in India, JIMs have been implemented based on the “Manufacturing Skill Transfer Promotion Programme” signed by the Ministry of Economy, Trade and Industry (METI) and the Ministry of Skill Development and Entrepreneurship of India (MSDE) in November 2016. Today, on October 18, 2018, METI held the JIM certification ceremony for three institutes of human resource development, which are affiliates of three Japanese companies, including Ahresty Corporation. Ahresty Corporation, which is the sixth such certified company following Suzuki Motor Corporation, Toyota Motor Corporation, Daikin Industries, Ltd., Yamaha Motor Co., Ltd., and Hitachi Construction Machinery Co., Ltd.

Ahresty JIM has 43 students enrolled for the first year. Ahresty JIM provides a one-year course, including lectures on general education and other required subjects, language study (English), and practical training in each process, such as casting, processing, handling of dies and equipment, quality management, casting techniques, production management, and new promotional activities. Ahresty JIM aims to develop human resources who will be responsible as core operators at the manufacturing sites of Japanese companies by learning Japanese-style MONOZUKURI (manufacturing) skills.
